Private Acts of 1984 Chapter 157

SECTION 1. (a) Any person desiring to erect, construct, or reconstruct or to have erected, constructed, or reconstructed any structure in Campbell County, and any person desiring to alter or have altered any existing structure in Campbell County where the value of such alternation is greater than five thousand dollars ($5,000.00) shall apply to the Campbell County Clerk for a building permit for such erection, construction, reconstruction, or alteration.

(b) The application shall be in a form to be prescribed by the county clerk and shall contain the following information:

- (1) whether the proposed work is to be new construction or the alteration of an existing structure;
- (2) the location or address of the proposed construction or alteration;
- (3) the identity of the owner or owners of the premises;
- (4) the cost of the completed structure, in the case of new construction, or in the case of the alteration of an existing structure, the value of the structure before and after the alteration; and
- (5) such other information as the county clerk may prescribe.

(c) Upon proper application, duly made and filed, the county clerk shall issue a building permit, file a copy in his office and cause a copy to be filed in the office of the county assessor of property, so that the fact of such erection, construction or alteration shall be noted for tax records. The county clerk shall charge a fee of ten dollars ($10.00) for the issuance of such permit; the fee shall be paid into the general fund of the county.

(d) No new or additional property tax shall be assessed against such premises unless and until they are complete or at least completed to the extent of being habitable or capable of being used for the purpose for which they were intended. Provided, however, in the case of the alteration of an existing structure not on the tax books of the county, or against which no property tax has been assessed, the assessor is not precluded from assessing the structure at its value before the alteration is completed and subsequently increasing the assessment upon completion of the alteration to include the value thereof.

SECTION 2. The permit requirement shall not apply to the erection, construction, reconstruction, or alteration of any structure in a municipality requiring a similar permit if a copy of the municipal permit is filed with the county clerk and if a fee of five dollars ($5.00) is paid to cover the cost of registering the permit in the office of both the county clerk and the assessor of property.

SECTION 3. It is unlawful for any municipality, county, cooperative or utility district to furnish utility services to any property on which a building or other structure is being erected, constructed, reconstructed or altered, or to such building or other structure unless the building permit required by this act is obtained and displayed thereon.

SECTION 4. Violation of this act shall be punished as a civil penalty in an amount of not more than fifty dollars ($50.00).

SECTION 5. This act shall have no effect unless it is approved by a two-thirds ($\frac{2}{3}$) vote of the county legislative body of Campbell County before July 1, 1983. Its approval or nonapproval shall be proclaimed by the presiding officer of the county legislative body and certified by him to the Secretary of State.

SECTION 6. For the purpose of approving or rejecting the provisions of this act, it shall be effective upon becoming a law, the public welfare requiring it. For all other purposes, it shall become effective on July 1, 1983, upon being approved as provided in Section 5.

The county attorney, among other things, would transact all the legal business of the county, advise county officials on legal matters and assist in waiting upon the grand jury. County officers could not employ any other lawyer than him. Private Acts of 1917, Chapter 679, abolished the office of county attorney in Campbell County and repealed all conflicting acts.

4. Private Acts of 1911, Chapter 406, seemed to be identical to Private Acts of 1911, Chapter 344, above, having the same provisions of $2.00 a day for attendance and five cents a mile for travel, as stated in that act.
5. Private Acts of 1949, Chapter 647, stated that hereafter the justices of the peace attending either called, or regular, sessions of the quarterly county court in Campbell County, using the 1945 Federal Census figures, would be paid $5.00 a day for such out of the regular county funds and, in addition, he would be paid five cents per mile traveled from home to courthouse, but those justices living within ten miles of the courthouse would receive a minimum of $1.00 for travel allowances.

This act was repealed by Private Acts of 1901, Chapter 349.

General Reference

The following private or local acts constitute part of the administrative and political history of Campbell County but are today no longer operative because they have either been superseded, repealed, or failed to receive local approval. Also referenced below are acts which repeal prior law without providing new substantive provisions.

1. Acts of 1807, Chapter 63, recites that the commission formerly appointed to plan and construct the courthouse and the seat of justice in Jacksboro did not discharge their duty. This act appoints Thomas Murry, Robert Glenn, Sampson David, John English, John Yount, Sr., James Rice, and John Newman in room and stead of the former commissioners who would have the same power and authority to lay out a town, set aside two acres for public buildings, and set up streets and alleys. In case of a vacancy in the above commission, the county court would fill it.
2. Acts of 1809, Second Session, Chapter 71, made it lawful for Sampson David to erect a warehouse for the public inspection and safe keeping of tobacco in Campbell County on the north side of Powell River. The warehouse would be on David's own land and be operated under the same rules published in the current public law.
3. Acts of 1815, Chapter 88, required the sheriff of Campbell County to hold an election in order for the people to vote on whether to leave the county seat at Jacksboro, or to move it to an area which was described by metes and bounds, in the vicinity of Thomas Campbell's plantation and Phillip Brook's land, which would be called Oxford. The vote to move must carry by a majority of at least 75 votes. If the county seat was voted to be moved, then Joseph Hart, Benjamin Wheeler, Daniel Martin, Andrew Hatfield, Absalom Morris, Robert Glenn, and Robert Deck were appointed as commissioners to carry out the will of the people and lay out the future town for the county seat of justice.
4. Acts of 1817, Chapter 5, Section 3, established and divided the state into solicitorial districts. The counties of Campbell, Hawkins, Grainger, and Claiborne composed the second solicitorial district.
5. Private Acts of 1826, Chapter 188, provided for the relief of A.N. Montgomery by the trustee of Campbell County in the amount of $35.75. The amount was equal to the fine placed on Montgomery for not attending as a juror at the circuit court of Campbell County.
6. Private Acts of 1831, Chapter 146, declared that one James Carroll, of Campbell County, heretofore convicted of petit larceny, is hereby restored to all the legal rights, capacities, and privileges of citizenship of which he was deprived as a consequence of the said conviction which rendered him infamous.

7. Private Acts of 1832, Chapter 76, provided that the bank agency of Campbell County will remain there under the existing rules and regulations as are prescribed by law until such time as the agent shall have received by 10% calls, an amount of money sufficient to pay the amount outstanding in the county. Further, that in case the bank agent has deposited in the branch bank at Knoxville, the amount in notes on the people of Campbell County which said county received over and above that to which it was entitled, then the president of the bank shall return said notes and the 10% calls shall be made and the money paid over to the president of the bank branch.
8. Acts of 1847-48, Chapter 86, stated that hereafter Campbell County would be allowed a director in the branch of the bank of Tennessee at Rogersville, who shall be appointed in the same manner and have the same power and authority as other directors.
9. Acts of 1847-48, Chapter 172, provided that commissioners would be appointed to select and designate some eligible site on which to locate the seat of justice of Campbell County, and, upon doing so, shall notify the sheriff who shall hold an election to decide between it and the present seat of justice. If the new site is chosen in the election, the commission shall then proceed to lay out the said town according to the conditions specified in this act, and may sell all the public property of the old site.
10. Acts of 1853-54, Chapter 180, gave the same authority to Claiborne, Campbell, Anderson, Knox, Montgomery, Stewart, Henry, Gibson, Tipton, and Madison counties to take stock in railroads and to issue bonds therefor but they also shall be subject to the same restrictions as are other counties indulging in the same practice.
11. Acts of 1853-54, Chapter 323, Section 13, made all the provisions of the law which permitted Haywood, Gibson, and Henry counties to invest in the stock of any railroad running through their county and to issue bonds therefor to pay as fully applicable to several other counties, including Campbell. All the above was subject to a favorable vote in a referendum in the affected county.
12. Private Acts of 1865-66, Chapter 60, Section 11, appointed David Hart, Jonothan S. Lindsay, Riley Queenor, William Lindsay, and George Delap, as commissioners for Jacksboro. They would appoint a surveyor and cause an accurate survey of the town to be made which would conform as near as possible to the original one. A plat shall be made, and, when verified by the commissioners, shall be registered. All streets and alleys would be named on this plat. The commissioners would be paid out of regular county funds and any vacancy in their ranks would be filled by the county court.
13. Public Acts of 1882, Second Session, Chapter 26, gave the comptroller of the state the authority to allow a credit to Ewings Banker, former revenue collector for Campbell County, for any errors which may be found in the computation of interest and damages in the judgment obtained in the favor of the state against Baker.
14. Private Acts of 1897, Chapter 124, was one of the earlier acts which established the salaries of several county officials according to the population of the county. Although this particular act was declared unconstitutional by the supreme court in Weaver v. Davidson County, 104 Tenn. 315, 59 S.W. 1105 (1900), it still served as a pattern for many which followed.
15. Private Acts of 1931, Chapter 481, provided that fairs, public parks, or a zoo, which was operated to exhibit the progress of the county in its areas of endeavor, or for the education of the people, wherein prizes and premiums might be given away, not to exceed $1,500 and admission prices while in operation would be not over fifty cents for the fairs and exhibitions, and five cents for the zoo, would be exempt from taxation by city, county, or state governments.

Court System - Historical Notes

Board of Jury Commissioners - Jurors

The following acts once affected jurors or boards of jury commissioners in Campbell County, but are no longer operative. Also referenced below are acts which repeal prior law without providing new substantive provisions.

1. Private Acts of 1911, Chapter 74, amended Acts of 1903, Chapter 552, by making the terms and provisions of that act applicable to Campbell County by using the 1910 Federal Census figures. The 1903 Act created a board of jury commissioners for Cocke County, all the specifications of which were extended into Campbell County except that the board would consist of three discreet members in Campbell County, and their appointments would be made by the quarterly county court at its April term. The provisions of the 1903 Act were very similar to the current state act on this subject.
2. Private Acts of 1915, Chapter 415, amended Acts of 1903, Chapter 552, as it was amended, in Section 8, by adding the general language "if it becomes necessary to have additional jurors whose names haven't been taken from the box, or an additional panel from which to select a jury for a pending case, the presiding judge may, in his discretion, select from citizens of the county, or direct the sheriff to summon persons to make up the jury in accordance with the general law."
3. Private Acts of 1915, Chapter 659, amended Private Acts of 1911, Chapter 74, Item 1, above, by striking "April" and inserting "May" so that the appointment of the members of the board of jury commissioners by the county court would take place in May instead of at the April term as provided previously.
4. Private Acts of 1947, Chapter 545, stated that the compensation of jurors in Campbell County, using the 1940 Federal Census figures, shall be, and is, fixed at $4.00 per day for each day's attendance as a juror. This act was repealed in the caption of Private Acts of 1957, Chapter 130, which was properly ratified, but no mention is made of the repeal in the body of the act.
5. Private Acts of 1955, Chapter 228, amended Private Acts of 1947, Chapter 545, above, by increasing the daily compensation of jurors in Campbell County from $4.00 to $9.00 a day. This act was rejected by the quarterly county court of Campbell County and therefore never became a law.
6. Private Acts of 1957, Chapter 130, provided that those people in Campbell County serving on both grand and petit juries shall receive $6.00 per day as compensation for their services, the foreman of the grand jury would be paid $10.00 per day. This act was properly ratified by the quarterly court.
7. Private Acts of 1970, Chapter 301, set the compensation of the officer in attendance upon grand and petit juries to $10.00 for each day's attendance.
8. Private Acts of 1972, Chapter 238, repealed Private Acts of 1947, Chapter 545, and Private Acts of 1970, Chapter 301. This act also set the compensation of jurors at $15 per day for each day's attendance as a juror, and this provision also included all juries which may have been summoned as a special panel to hear cases in chancery court. Our information is that this act was not acted on prior to the publication of the printed volume of private acts which was confirmed by contact with the circuit court clerk's office.

Chancery Court

The following acts form an outline of the development of equity jurisdiction in Campbell County, although they no longer have the force of law since they have either been superseded by general law, repealed, or failed to receive local ratification. Also referenced below are acts which repeal prior law without providing new substantive provisions.

1. Public Acts of 1824, Second Session, Chapter 14, added two justices to the supreme court of Tennessee which would hold its meetings thereafter at Knoxville, Sparta, and Nashville. The court judges must arrange among themselves to have chancery court twice a year in every district. This court of equity would convene in Kingston for Knox, Anderson, Morgan, Roane, Rhea, Hamilton, Campbell, McMinn, Monroe, and Blount counties on the first Monday in June and December to remain in session for two weeks, or longer, to conclude its docket.
2. Public Acts of 1827, Chapter 79, divided the state into two chancery divisions. The first division was made up of those courts which met at Rogersville, Greenville, Kingston, Carthage, and McMinnville.
3. Public Acts of 1827, Chapter 88, provided that the chancellors would hold the court at Kingston on the first Monday in June and December for the counties of Knox, Blount, Anderson, Rhea, Morgan, Roane, Hamilton, Campbell, McMinn, and Monroe.

4. Public Acts of 1829-30, Chapter 27, stated that the chancery court at Kingston would thereafter be held on the fourth Monday of November and May.
5. Private Acts of 1831, Chapter 217, provided for the chancellor of the eastern chancery division to hold the chancery court at Knoxville for the counties of Campbell, Anderson, Knox, and Sevier. He would appoint a clerk for this court whose duty it would be to receive all the causes filed in other courts to transfer them to this court.
6. Public Acts of 1832, Chapter 19, stated that the district chancery court for Kingston will be held on the second Monday in June and December.
7. Public Acts of 1835-36, Chapter 4, divided Tennessee into three chancery divisions which were then divided into smaller districts, which courts would be held by chancellors who would be appointed for each of the three divisions. Grainger, Claiborne, and Campbell counties were in the fourth district of the eastern division whose court would convene at Tazewell on the fourth Monday of February and September.
8. Acts of 1841-42, Chapter 74, repealed so much of the 1835 Act, above, which placed Campbell County in the fourth district of the eastern division and made Campbell County a separate chancery district alone. The chancellor of the eastern division would hold the court on the fourth Monday of June and December each year at Jacksboro.
9. Acts of 1849-50, Chapter 213, Section 2, abolished the chancery court established at Jacksboro in Campbell County and repealed Acts of 1841-42, Chapter 74 Item 9, above, which created it. Citizens of Campbell County, were authorized to file their chancery bills in Knoxville, or in Tazewell. The clerk and master was required to transfer the records in all the causes to one of those two courts as the parties may agree.
10. Acts of 1851-52, Chapter 306, reestablished the chancery court at Jacksboro, and attached Anderson and Scott counties to it to join Campbell. All suits pending in those three counties will be transferred by the clerks and masters to Jacksboro on or before the fourth Monday in June next. If the litigants should so desire, the court at Jacksboro would begin on the fourth Monday in June and December of each year.
11. Public Acts of 1857-58, Chapter 27, Section 4, required that all cases in chancery which were pending in Jamestown, Montgomery, and Jacksboro, wherein the subject matter was real estate located in Scott County, or where the defendant, or any of them, lived in Scott County, the cause, and all the records, will be transferred by the clerks and masters of the above named courts to the clerk and master at Huntsville, in Scott County, there to be tried and determined.
12. Public Acts of 1857-58, Chapter 88, divided the state into the eastern, middle, fourth, fifth, and sixth chancery divisions. Campbell County was in the eastern division with court scheduled to begin on the fourth Monday in June and December at Jacksboro.
13. Public Acts of 1865-66, Chapter 41, attached Campbell County to the eighth chancery district changing court terms in Roane, Blount, Union, and Campbell counties whose court at Jacksboro would begin on the fourth Monday in April and October.
14. Public Acts of 1866-67, Chapter 33, Section 8 reset the terms of the chancery court in Roane County and in Campbell County which went to the third Monday in April and October instead of the fourth.
15. Public Acts of 1870, Chapter 32, reorganized the lower court system of Tennessee into twelve chancery districts. The second chancery district was made up of Knox, Sevier, Campbell, Union, Anderson, Roane, Monroe, Blount, Scott, Morgan, Fentress, and Christiana counties, if it were established.
16. Public Acts of 1870, Chapter 47, set the terms of the chancery court for every county in the state. Campbell County's Court would commence on the third Monday in April and October.

Pending this hearing, the employee may be suspended by the Superintendent, but charges shall be filed and a copy thereof furnished the employee within twenty-four hours after such suspension. The Superintendent of Schools shall hear all charges within five days after a copy of such charges have been furnished the employee so charged, unless the hearing is further postponed at the request of, or with the consent of, the employee under charge. Education/Schools - Historical Notes

Board of Education

The following acts once affected the board of education in Campbell County but are no longer operative. Also referenced below are acts which repeal prior law without providing new substantive provisions.

1. Private Acts of 1915, Chapter 294, created a high school system for Campbell County, authorized a special tax levy, or high school tax, of not less than fifteen cents, and not more than twenty cents, per $100 of valuation, and vested the management, operation and control of the high schools in a three member county high school board, whose secretary in an ex-officio capacity would be the superintendent of public instruction. The members would serve three year terms arranged so that one would be elected in January of each year. The superintendent would be paid by the board for his duties as secretary, and the members would be paid by the quarterly court, not to exceed $100 a year. There would be at least two high schools, one at the county seat, and the other at Jellico. The county superintendent would supervise the schools into which would be admitted all eligible pupils.

2. Private Acts of 1915, Chapter 433, stated that it would not be lawful in Campbell County and the board of education was not authorized to use any part of the common school fund derived from taxes, privileges, of from the state, to purchase sites for, or to erect public school buildings. This could be done only with funds coming from the sale of bonds under the terms and conditions set up by public law.
3. Private Acts of 1925, Chapter 395, allowed the county board of education to establish and maintain one or more junior high schools of the seventh and eighth grades from the elementary system and of the ninth grade from the high school system, and with the authority to operate them in collaboration with any city school system. A curriculum would be set up for these schools which will contain all the essential requirements demanded by state law, and, in addition, would add home economics, agriculture, vocational, civics, and industrial courses.
4. Private Acts of 1927, Chapter 323, created a seven member board of education for Campbell County and repealed all conflicting laws. One member would be elected from each of the five civil districts of the county and the other two at large to take office on Sept. 1, 1928, and every two years thereafter. Each member would be paid according to the state law but, if no state law provided for such, then as the county court might determine. County superintendent would serve as ex-officio secretary and the members would select their own chairman from among their members. The board was authorized to employ a superintendent who would be an employee and not an official, and who must meet the standards enumerated in this law, the old position being abolished. The salary for the new position would be established by the county court.
5. Private Acts of 1943, Chapter 292, declared that all the counties of the state having a population of not less than 31,125 nor more than 31,140 by the Federal Census of 1940, the board of education shall meet at the county seat at such times as it may deem necessary or upon call of the chairman for transaction of any and all business of the board. The board members received a compensation of $3.00 per day and ten cents per mile one way, except the chairman of the board who received $150.00 per annum, payable monthly out of the general school funds of the county. The act further outlined the election of teachers and all other employees of the board of education only upon recommendation of the county superintendent of education .
6. Private Acts of 1949, Chapter 228, created a county board of education in counties of this state with a population of not less than 31,000, nor more than 32,000 by the Federal Census of 1940. The act also established school districts in said counties; provided for the election of the members from each district by the voters; and provided for the rights, powers and duties of the members of such school board.
7. Private Acts of 1955, Chapter 348, would have amended Private Acts of 1949, Chapter 228, published herein, by setting the compensation of the members of the board of education at the rate of $10 per day for each day spent in attendance at their meetings and twelve cents a mile for each mile traveled one way, between home and county seat. The chairman of the board would receive $35 a month plus twelve cents a mile, all of which would come from the general fund of the county but this act was rejected and disapproved by the quarterly court and therefore never became a law.
8. Private Acts of 1959, Chapter 183, would have amended Private Acts of 1949, Chapter 228, also by setting the compensation of the board of education at $10 per day, the salary of the chairman at $35 per month, and all members to be paid twelve cents per mile for each mile traveled, one way, between home and the county seat, the same to come out of school funds, but this act was also rejected by the quarterly county court of Campbell County.
9. Private Acts of 1961, Chapter 309, created a five member board of education, one to be elected by the people residing in each of five school districts, likewise created by the act and composed of whole civil districts. Arrangements were also included which staggered the terms of board members, it being the intention of the general assembly to confer upon the board and the superintendent the control and administration of the school system. The act called it to be submitted to the people in a referendum but the quarterly county court did not allow it to get that far, having rejected it themselves.
10. Private Acts of 1987, Chapter 102, outlined the election of the seven member school board of Campbell County. Each member was elected for four year staggered terms. School districts three and six held elections on August, 1988; school districts one, four and seven held elections on August, 1990; and school districts two, five, three and six held elections on August, 1992. Biennially thereafter, at the regular August, 1988, election school board members were elected for four year terms from the districts as provided.

General Reference

The following acts constitute part of the administrative and political heritage of the educational structure of Campbell County but are no longer operative since they have either been superseded, repealed, or failed to receive local approval. Also referenced below are acts which repeal prior law without providing new substantive provisions.

1. Acts of 1806, Second Session, Chapter 8, incorporated James Groat, Hugh Montgomery, Hutchins Burton, Michael Huffacre, and Sampson David, as a body corporate and politic, to be known as trustees of Franklin Academy in Campbell County. They were given all the powers incidental to corporations to execute the purposes of this act.
2. Private Acts of 1827, Chapter 237, appointed Thomas Wheeler, John Philips, David Richardson, and Abraham Hayter as trustees of Franklin Academy in Campbell County.
3. Public Acts of 1875, Chapter 122, authorized and empowered the trustees of the Franklin Academy in Jacksboro to expend all or any part of the funds of the said academy at any time, and, in any manner in which they, or a majority of them, deem best.
4. Acts of 1905, Chapter 176, created a special school district to be known as the Elk Valley School District, described in metes and bounds, and located in Campbell County. The board of election commissioners were required to hold an election for the people to choose the three school directors to serve said district. This school district would have all the rights, privileges and emoluments of other school districts in the state.
5. Acts of 1907, Chapter 236, abolished all the positions of district directors of the schools in the state and created a board of education and district advisors in all counties. The counties would be divided into five, or less, school districts, composed of whole civil districts, from each of which one member of the board of education would be elected. If less than five districts were in the county the other members would run at large so that all boards of education would have five members. The county superintendent would be secretary to the board, and would fill vacancies on the board, if one should occur. The basic duties of the chairman, whom the board would select from their own number, the secretary, and the members are enumerated in the bill. Compensation would be set by the county court and be between $1.50 and $3.00 per day for each day spent in actual service, up to 30 days per year. The voters in each district would elect a three member advisory board who were given certain duties to perform. Some counties exempted themselves from the provisions of this act but Campbell County was not one of them. This law was tested in Whitthorne v. Turner, 155 Tenn. 303, 293 S.W. 147 (1927).
6. Acts of 1907, Chapter 604, provided for and enforced the education of all children between the ages of eight and sixteen years in counties of the state which had a population of not less than seventeen thousand three hundred and not more than seventeen thousand and four hundred according to the Federal Census of 1900.
7. Private Acts of 1925, Chapter 445, provided the quarterly county court of Campbell County, using 1920 Federal Census figures, with the authority to levy an additional tax in excess of the aggregate state tax for all purposes, for the purpose of creating a school fund sufficient to extend the elementary schools of the county to eight months out of the year.
8. Private Acts of 1927, Chapter 630, created a special school district known as the Caryville High School District to which the junior high school located in Caryville would be given. The district would be managed by three trustees to be elected by the people at the general August election in 1928, and every two years thereafter. L. C. Sharp, J. M. Newport, and H. P. Pickle were named in the act to serve until the election. The powers and duties of the board of trustees are specified along with those of the secretary who would be the county superintendent of schools. The county trustee would pay the pro rata share of school funds to the district and, in addition, the county court must levy an annual tax on all the property in the area to operate the high school. All white children in the region were eligible to attend and others out of the district could attend when designated by the board.
9. Private Acts of 1939, Chapter 396, recited that the TVA condemned the Caryville High School in 1936, leaving the area without a school and, since that date, school has been conducted in the Baptist and Methodist Churches in 1936, 1937, and 1938. On December 6, 1937, the Caryville Baptist Church was destroyed by fire, and the cause was determined to be from a fire which had been banked on Sunday night after church in order to have the building warm for school on Monday. The building carried no insurance but $35,000 was forthcoming from the state, and the county court, by resolution, appropriated $7,000 to contribute to the rebuilding of the burned church. This act ratified the resolution and granted the authority to the county court to appropriate this amount for the purpose specified under these circumstances.

10. Private Acts of 1943, Chapter 205, allowed all counties having the population mentioned, which included Campbell County, to take over and operate the elementary schools of any and all incorporated towns and cities in the county, upon the recommendation of the board of education that same be done. The counties were further empowered to acquire by purchase, gift, or condemnation, or otherwise, any suitable property therefor, and to make settlements for the same.
11. Private Acts of 1951, Chapter 10, permitted the county board of education, with the concurrence of the quarterly court, to purchase certain properties, therein described, from Kolo and Eliza Wier Davis, in the city of La Follette, provided the Davis' execute a release from all claims they may have against the county on a school construction contract, and, provided further, that the grantors execute proper deeds of conveyance together with the furnishing of a fee simple title to the grantees, the consideration for all of which shall not exceed $26,877.64.

Highways and Roads - Historical Notes

Highways and Roads

The following is a listing of acts which once had some effect upon the county road system in Campbell County, but which are no longer operative. Also referenced below are acts which repeal prior law without providing new substantive provisions.

1. Private Acts of 1829-30, Chapter 136, authorized Allen M'Donald to open a turnpike road from Pleasant Chitwood's and the Kentucky line in Campbell County, crossing New River at John Reed's, up Brimstone Creek and across the mountain, and thence down Emery River to Montgomery in Morgan County. The road was to be 20 feet wide, clear of stumps, and marshes were to be bridged. The work was to be completed by July 1, 1831, at which time a schedule of tolls to be charged, as set out in the act, would go into effect.
2. Private Acts of 1831, Chapter 20, allowed the county court of Campbell County to pay $23.86 to William McCoy, which was money expended by him on behalf of the government in the prosecution of three lawsuits against overseers of the public roads, provided, however, that in the event said money has already been refunded to McCoy, then this act ratifies and confirms such actions.
3. Private Acts of 1832, Chapter 77, directed the county court of Campbell County to appropriate and pay to William McCoy the sum of $23.86 which represented the money expended by him in court costs incurred in the defense of three lawsuits brought against three road hands who were assigned to him when McCoy was an overseer of roads in Campbell County.
4. Acts of 1843-44, Chapter 83, Section 4, gives free passage to all citizens of Campbell County at all times on the road from Montgomery in Morgan County running in the direction of the salt works and to the Kentucky line, for which Hiram Marcom and Daniel Chitwood of Campbell County, and Jesse Triplett of Morgan County had been appointed commissioners.

5. Private Acts of 1843-44, Chapter 116, Section 7, permitted the commissioners who had been appointed for the improvement of Powell's River to expend the remainder of the appropriated money in the best interests of Claiborne and Campbell counties, so as to improve the road leading from Knoxville, by way of Clinton and Jacksboro, to Cumberland Gap, and also to erect a bridge across Coves Creek in Campbell County. Other commissioners, not to exceed three in number, may be appointed at a compensation of no more than $1.00 per day to supervise the work in each county. Contracts were to be let according to the law and the money shall be spent in proportion to the length of the Powell River in each county.
6. Private Acts of 1845-46, Chapter 152, Section 6, appointed as commissioners to receive stock subscriptions up to $150,000, certain people in Knox and Anderson counties, and John Carey, Jordan Smith, Thomas Weir, Robert Morrow, John Phillips, and William D. Crawford, all of Campbell County, which money would be used to build a turnpike road from Campbell's Station to Cumberland Gap, to be called the Campbell Station and Powell's Valley Turnpike Road, all the conditions and specifications for the issue of said stock being incorporated in the act.
7. Private Acts of 1847-48, Chapter 186, incorporated James Archer, William Perkins, Labon Sharp, and William Walker, all of Campbell County, plus three from Anderson County, and such others as they may associate with them, to open and operate a turnpike from the Kentucky line in Campbell County near the lot running through the Big Creek Gap to the road running through Powell's Valley to the Cumberland Gap, and further to Lay's Roads. Toll gates will be permitted on the said road and tolls charges according to a schedule in the Act.
8. Private Acts of 1867-68, Chapter 101, Section 13, incorporated James M. Bilin, Jonathan Linsey, Reuben Rogers, Henry Myers, Eli Brown, John Meadows, George Heatherly, O. T. Cliburn, and James J. Maris, as the "Jacksboro, Powell's Valley, and Cumberland Gap Turnpike Company," which would run from the Knoxville and Kentucky Railroad near Jacksboro in Campbell County, to Cumberland Gap, same to have all the powers and privileges incidental to other corporations.
9. Public Acts of 1868-69, Chapter 11, provided for a state grant of aid to the corporation formed above, of $70,000 provided they were organized as their charter of incorporation directed and have at least that amount in subscribed stock. William Scruggs, Frederick Detavener, William C. Hall, and Henry Sharp were added to the list of incorporators.
10. Public Acts of 1901, Chapter 136, was a statewide road law applicable to all counties under 70,000 in population. A road commissioner would be elected from each road district which were made co-extensive with the civil districts. The duties of the commissioners were specified and their compensation set at $1.00 per day, not to exceed ten days in one year. The county court would assign road hands to work and specify the number of days between five and eight for which each male between 21 and 45 years of age were required to work. A road tax of two cents per $100 property valuation would be levied each year. The commissioners would appoint road overseers in his district, who would also get $1.00 per day, limited to $6.00 a year. Roads would be classified and indexed, prisoners could be worked under certain conditions, and specifications for roads were all included in the law. Petitions to open, close, or change a road must follow procedures outlined in the act, and contracts could be awarded to perform road work if certain conditions were observed. Methods were prescribed for the purchase and use of tools and machinery on the roads. An early test for this law came in the case of Carroll v. Griffith, 117 Tenn. 500, 97 S.W. 66 (1906).
11. Acts of 1905, Chapter 478, amended the 1901 act, in several minor particulars but primarily in the methods of disposition for the petitions to open, close, or change a road, concerning public hearings and condemnation procedures, if they became necessary.
12. Acts of 1907, Chapter 515, applied to both Scott and Campbell counties and provided for the appointment of three road commissioners who were not justices of the peace, who were experienced in road building, who came from different civil districts of the county, and who were given general supervision over the roads and bridges in the county. The county court could designate one, or more, roads as county highways and they would be treated as turnpikes. Specifications were established concerning the width, paving, ditching, and grading of the roads which would be done by road hands, or under a contract arrived at in accordance with certain bid procedures and award measures set out. After county highways are fixed, the work could proceed to the next most important road, but no contract could be awarded which exceeded the funds available. A special road tax from ten to twenty-five cents, and an ad valorem tax to two cents, per $100 valuation of property could be levied to produce the road funds. The commission would

- dispose of all applications to open, close, or change roads and would classify the roads into four classes according to width and surfacing material. All males outside cities between 21 and 45 years of age were required to work on the roads and pay $1.00 per day for each one defaulted.
13. Private Acts of 1911, Chapter 420, also applied to Campbell and Scott counties. The act has a general repealer which should dispose of conflicts between it and the previous 1907 Act. The act creates a three member board of road commissioners, presided over by the county judge, or chairman. There would be a superintendent of roads, and a secretary to the board, both to be chosen by the county court. Sam Davis, William Baird, and Joseph Gaylor were named as commissioners to serve until the August, 1912, elections would determine their successors, who would serve two year terms. The road superintendent, who would work full time, would be paid $750 a year, and the secretary would receive $300. If the county judge were not paid a salary, he would get $300 a year. The superintendent would examine and inspect all the county roads and report to the county court. He could employ an engineer to assist him whose duties were prescribed, if one was retained, and he could also hire road hands at $1.25 per day, or less. The county court could levy a road tax from 10 to 25 cents, while males, outside cities, between the ages of 21 and 50 were required to work three days on the roads, or pay three dollars. A $5.00 vehicle tax was levied on all types with some few exemptions and failure to acquire one could lead to fines. Methods for handling petitions to open, close, and change the roads, and to work prisoners in the roads under certain arrangements with the sheriff were incorporated into the act.
 14. Private Acts of 1917, Chapter 767, stated that all persons confined in the jails of Campbell County, subject to work either before or after conviction shall be put upon the public roads in and around rock crushers or quarries, to prepare paving materials for the roads. If a sufficient number of convicts are available to form a chain gang, the sheriff was authorized to turn them over to the road supervisors to labor upon the roads under a suitable person as a guard. This act was repealed by Private Acts of 1925, Chapter 263.
 15. Private Acts of 1917, Chapter 784, created the position of supervisor of roads for the county to be elected by the quarterly court to two year terms beginning in August, 1918. He would be paid no less than $900 nor more than $1,200 a year, would devote full time to his duties, and could be removed by action of the county court. He would appoint overseers in each road district same as civil districts to supervise work in that area. He would be paid $1.00 per day, up to 75 days per year, for each one spent on the job. All males, 21 to 45, were required to work on the roads unless physically disabled, or have paid the commutation fee, no less than six nor more than ten days as determined by the court. Supervisor would have charges of all roads and bridges, machinery, tools, supplies, and perform all other necessary administrative work. Roads would be classified, graded, divided into sections and an overseer would be placed on each section. A road tax of 10 to 25 cents would be levied on good roads and 10 to 25 cents on common roads. The remainder of the act is almost identical with the provisions of other former laws on bids, contracts, damages, condemnation, petitions to open, close, or change a road.
 16. Private Acts of 1919, Chapter 692, seems to be the next road law for Campbell County providing that the county court elect at its April term each year a county road commission composed of one citizen, not a justice of the peace, from each civil district. The present superintendent of roads would serve until his term was out. The chairman, the secretary, and three members would constitute a quorum. They must take an oath, not be interested in any business of the county and would be paid $250 a year. Each member would have charge of the roads, funds, tools, and hands in his district, and no one shall incur debts beyond the amount of funds on hand. These provisions do not apply to the work being done under bond funds and legislation. Males, age 21 to 50, would work four days, or pay $6.00. A special road tax from 15 to 25 cents per $100.00 for paved roads were authorized. Road overseers were required to work four days free and then would be paid $2.00 per day, but no more than $6.00 per year after that.
 17. Private Acts of 1923, Chapter 371, stated that all persons in Campbell County using the 1920 Federal Census figures, who were confined in jail, imprisoned for punishment, or for failure to pay fine or costs, or sentenced to the workhouse instead of the penitentiary to work out a sentence, shall be turned over to the road superintendent by the sheriff, at any and all times when needed, and they shall work at repairing and improving the public roads. Guards may be employed at $3.00 a day when necessary to work and control the prisoners who would be credited with fifty cents for each ten hour day worked.
 18. Private Acts of 1923, Chapter 449, allowed the road commission of Campbell County to close certain streets or portions of them, in Jacksboro, namely North, Liberty, Valley and East Street.
 19. Private Acts of 1925, Chapter 193, specifically repealed Private Acts of 1923, Chapter 449, Item 22, above, in its entirety.

21. Private Acts of 1927, Chapter 115, amended Private Acts of 1919, Chapter 692, the road law of the Campbell County by repealing Section 1. The new section created a road commission of five members serving two year terms. George Comer, Dowe Hiken, Fred Vinsent, Jesse H. Baird, and William Sowders, were named to serve until their successors, elected in November, 1928, would assume office, one from each civil district. No justice of the peace could be a member. Starting on January 1, 1929, this commission would be in charge of opening, closing, changing, grading, working, macadamizing, and maintaining roads. A chairman and secretary would be elected and all members would be paid $360 a year, payable monthly. No commissioner was allowed to have a personal interest in any of the businesses of the county. The high age limit for working on roads was lowered from 50 to 45, and all commutation money would be spent in the district where it was collected. All funds collected from public sources would be divided equally. This act was repealed by Private Acts of 1943, Chapter 42.
22. Private Acts of 1933, Chapter 340, amended Private Acts of 1927, Chapter 115, above, by reducing the compensation of the members of the county road commission from $360 to $180 annually. This act was repealed by Private Acts of 1935, Chapter 622.
23. Private Acts of 1935, Chapter 90, created the office of superintendent of roads who would be elected to the quarterly county court for a four year term, the first to occur at the April term, 1935, whose salary would be $1,800 a year, payable monthly out of the road funds. He would supervise and control all gas tax funds received from the state but was not to interfere with the authority of the county road commission to expend funds in the road account. He may employ a bookkeeper at $75 a month, and road hands as may be needed. This act was repealed by Private Acts of 1939, Chapter 148, below.
24. Private Acts of 1935, Chapter 622, expressly repealed Private Acts of 1933, Chapter 340, which amended Private Acts of 1927, Chapter 115, thus restoring the annual wage of commissioners to $360 a year.

J. F. Baird, Fred Lynch, and Roy Sharp were appointed to serve until others could be elected, Sharp as acting secretary. This commission would supervise and control all funds from the gas tax and perform all duties heretofore done by the road superintendent. The commissioners would devote full time to their duties, employ road hands as needed, and a master mechanic at $100.00 per month. This act was repealed by Private Acts of 1943, Chapter 384.
27. Private Acts of 1943, Chapter 42, specifically repealed Private Acts of 1927, Chapter 115, which was the current road law for Campbell County.

Three road districts were created which were composed of whole civil districts, one to be elected from each district. Don Claiborne was named for district one, Luther Richardson for district 2, and James H. Cantrell for district three, to serve until their successors were elected. Charles Waldon and Frank Baird were appointed as road superintendents at $1,800 a year, and Taylor Oaks was appointed as clerk to the commission. These would have control of the roads through August 31, 1944, and would purchase all supplies and equipment. Upon proper resolution of the county court, they would become the board of workhouse commissioners. This act was repealed by Private Acts of 1947, Chapter 158.
30. Private Acts of 1943, Chapter 384, expressly repealed Private Acts of 1939, Chapter 149, which concerned the highway commission, in its entirety. This act was effective immediately.
31. Private Acts of 1947, Chapter 158, expressly repeals Private Acts of 1943, Chapter 383, in its entirety which was the then existing road law for Campbell County, effective September 1, 1948.

- (c) "County" means Campbell County, Tennessee.
- (d) "Hotel" means any structure or space, or any portion thereof, which is occupied or intended or designed for occupancy by transients for dwelling, lodging or sleeping purposes, and includes any hotel, inn, tourist camp, tourist court, tourist cabin, campground, motel or any place in which rooms, lodgings or accommodations are furnished to transients for a consideration.

- (h) "Transient" means any person who exercises occupancy or is entitled to occupancy for any rooms, lodgings, spaces, or accommodations in a hotel for a period of less than thirty (30) continuous days.

SECTION 2. The legislative body of Campbell County is authorized to levy a privilege tax upon the privilege of occupancy in any hotel of each transient, in an amount not to exceed five percent (5%) of the rate charged by the operator. The tax imposed is a privilege tax upon the transient occupying such room or other accommodation and is to be collected and distributed as herein provided. The rate of the tax may be modified by the county legislative body such to the five percent (5%) limitation. Such tax shall be in addition to all other taxes levied or authorized to be levied whether in the form of excise, license, or privilege taxes, and shall be in addition to all other fees and taxes now levied or authorized to be levied.

SECTION 3. Such tax shall be added by each operator to each invoice prepared by the operator for the occupancy of the hotel. Such invoice shall be given directly or transmitted to the transient, a copy thereof to be retained and filed by the operator as provided in Section 8.

When a person has maintained occupancy for thirty (30) continuous days, that person shall receive from the operator a refund or credit for the tax previously collected or charged, and the operator shall receive credit for the amount of such tax if previously paid or reported to the county.

SECTION 4. No operator of a hotel shall advertise or state in any manner, whether directly or indirectly, that the tax or any part thereof will be assumed or absorbed by the operator or that it will not be added to the rent, or that if added, any part will be refunded.

SECTION 5.

(a) The tax levied shall be remitted by all operators who lease, rent or charge for any rooms or spaces in hotels within the county, to the clerk not later than the twentieth (20th) day of each month for the preceding month. The operator is required to collect the tax from the transient at the time of the presentation of the invoice for such occupancy, whether prior to, during or after occupancy, as may be the custom of the operator. If credit is granted by the operator to the transient, then the obligation to the county entitled to such tax shall be that of the operator.

(b) For the purpose of compensating the county clerk for collecting the tax, the clerk shall be allowed five percent (5%) of the amount of the tax remitted by the operators.

SECTION 6. The county clerk shall be responsible for the collection of the tax and shall place the proceeds of such tax in accounts as designated in Section 10 for the purposes stated therein. A monthly tax return shall be filed under oath with the clerk by the operator with such number of copies thereof as the clerk may reasonably require for the collection of such tax. The report of the operator shall include such facts and information as may be deemed reasonable for the verification of the tax due. An operator shall be liable for interest on such delinquent taxes from the due date at the rate of twelve percent (12%) per annum, and is liable for an additional penalty of one percent (1%) for each month or fraction thereof such taxes are delinquent. Such interest and penalty shall become a part of the tax herein required to be remitted.

(b) Each occurrence of knowing refusal of an operator to collect or remit the tax or knowing refusal of a transient to pay the tax imposed is a separate violation of this act and may result in the imposition of a civil penalty, to be imposed separately for each violation, not to exceed fifty dollars ($50.00) upon a finding of such knowing refusal by a court of competent jurisdiction. As used in this section, "each occurrence" means each day.

(c) Nothing in this section shall be construed to prevent the county clerk or other authorized collector of the tax from pursuing any civil remedy available to the collector by law, including issuing distress warrants and the seizure of assets, to collect any taxes due or delinquent under this act.

SECTION 8. It shall be the duty of every operator liable for the collection and payment to the county of any tax levied pursuant to this act to keep and preserve for a period of three (3) years all records necessary to determine the amount of such tax, which records the clerk shall have the right to inspect at all reasonable times.

SECTION 9. The clerk in administering and enforcing the provisions of the act shall have as additional powers, those powers and duties with respect to collecting taxes as provided in Title 67, Tennessee Code Annotated, or otherwise provided by law for the county clerks.

Upon any claim of illegal assessment and collection, the taxpayer has the remedies provided in Title 67, Tennessee Code Annotated, it being the intent of this act that the provisions of law which apply to the recovery of state taxes illegally assessed and collected shall also apply to the tax levied pursuant to this act. The provisions of Tennessee Code Annotated, Section 67-1-707 shall be applicable to adjustments and refunds of such tax. With respect to the adjustment and settlement with taxpayers, all errors of county taxes collected by the clerk under authority of this act shall be refunded by the clerk.

Notice of any tax paid under protest shall be given to the clerk and the resolution authorizing levy of the tax shall designate a county officer against whom suit may be brought for recovery.

SECTION 10. The proceeds of the tax authorized by this act shall be deposited in the fund of the county to be used for such purposes as specified by resolution of the county legislative body.

Taxation - Historical Notes

Assessor of Property

The following acts were superseded, repealed or failed to win local ratification, but they are listed here as a reference to laws which once affected the Campbell County Assessor. Also referenced below are acts which repeal prior law without providing new substantive provisions.

1. Private Acts of 1915, Chapter 234, ratified, confirmed, and legalized the prior actions of the quarterly county court in increasing the salary of the tax assessor to $1,800 a year during each year of his term, which action took place at the July Term, 1913.
2. Private Acts of 1921, Chapter 118, stated that the tax assessor of Campbell County, using the 1920 Federal Census figures, shall receive as compensation for his services the sum of $2,800 a year, payable $700 a quarter, on the first day of January, April, July, and October, on the warrant of the county judge, or chairman, out of the regular county funds. This act was repealed by the act below.
3. Private Acts of 1933, Chapter 514, expressly repealed Private Acts of 1921, Chapter 118, Item 2, above, in its entirety.
4. Private Acts of 1937, Chapter 148, provided that all the tax assessors in Campbell County, quoting 1930 Federal Census figures, shall receive as full compensation for their services the sum of $1,800 per year, payable monthly out of the regular general funds of the county.
5. Private Acts of 1953, Chapter 589, amended Private Acts of 1943, Chapter 444, Section 3, by increasing the salary of the tax assessor of Campbell County from $2,400 to $3,600, per year.
6. Private Acts of 1959, Chapter 209, would have amended Private Acts of 1943, Chapter 444, as amended, by raising the compensation of the Campbell County Tax Assessor from $3,600 to $5,000 per annum, but this act was not approved by the quarterly county court, and consequently never became an effective law.
7. Private Acts of 1959, Chapter 210, stated that any person desiring to erect, or to have erected, any building or structure, or any person desiring to remodel, or to have remodeled any building or structure, wherein the cost of doing the same exceeds $500, that person shall first obtain from the tax assessor, after having filed an application therefor which contained certain information and which was in the form provided in the act, a permit to do so for which one must pay a fee of fifty cents. This act was rejected and disapproved at the local level and did not become a law.
8. Private Acts of 1961, Chapter 75, would have amended Private Acts of 1943, Chapter 444, Section 3, by providing that the county tax assessor shall be reimbursed for official travel done in the course of assessing county property at the rate of eight cents per mile upon presenting to the presiding officer of the quarterly court a sworn statement containing the number of miles actually traveled. This act was rejected by the quarterly court even though it had to be ratified in a referendum under its terms.
9. Private Acts of 1961, Chapter 76, would have repealed Private Acts of 1953, Chapter 483, which provided for the appointment of a deputy tax assessor, published herein. The act called for approval by referendum vote but the quarterly county court rejected it.
10. Private Acts of 1963, Chapter 47, would have provided that the county tax assessor of Campbell County, using the 1960 Federal Census figures, shall be elected by the quarterly county court at its July term in 1964, taking office on September 1, 1964, for four years, and he may be reelected at that time, or afterwards. The assessor must be 30 years of age, a high school graduate, and meet other specified qualifications of education and experience and devote full time to the duties of the office. A secretary could be employed for the assessor whose salary would be paid by the county court out of the regular county funds. The authority and duties of the assessor are the same as those prescribed in the general Tennessee law. The salary would be $7,500 a year but this does not constitute a waiver of T.C.A. 67-1713. He would be paid seven cents per mile for official travel, but not over $100 per month, upon submission of an itemized statement. He would be furnished an office in the county court house at county expense and may be given a deputy and clerical help if they are needed to accomplish the objectives. This act was rejected by the quarterly county court.
11. Private Acts of 1963, Chapter 50, would have repealed Private Acts of 1953, Chapter 483, specifically and entirely but this act was also rejected by the county court.

Taxation

The following is a listing of acts pertaining to taxation in Campbell County which are no longer effective.

Also referenced below are acts which repeal prior law without providing new substantive provisions.

1. Public Acts of 1870-71, Chapter 50, authorized the counties and the cities in Tennessee to levy taxes for county and city purposes upon the following conditions; (1) that all property be taxed according to its value on the principles which were then applied to state taxation, and (2) that the credit of no county, or city, could be given, or loaned, to any person, firm, or private corporation unless a majority of the quarterly county court should first agree to submit the question to the people through a referendum, and then the people approve the same by a three-fourths approval vote for the next ten years, requiring that only a majority of the people vote affirmatively. Campbell County was exempted from the provisions of this act.
2. Private Acts of 1931, Chapter 223, created in counties between the population figures of 22,193 and 30,000 including Campbell County, the office of delinquent poll tax collector, who would be appointed by the county judge, or chairman, for a term of two years. All poll taxes not paid on or before March 1 of the year following the year they were due were declared to be delinquent. The collector would be paid seventy cents, plus the fees paid to others for serving process, for each delinquent poll tax collected. The county trustee was required to compose a list of those who were in arrears on their taxes and give the same to the delinquent poll tax collector. The appearance of one's name on the list was sufficient grounds for the issuance of a distress warrant to collect them. The collector could use only the regular official receipt books of the county which would also be furnished to him by the trustee. All collections would be turned over to the trustee as were other revenues. The collector was given the power to examine any and all records in the county, including payrolls, could summon witnesses, place them under oath, and conduct hearings.
3. Private Acts of 1931, Chapter 518, amended Chapter 223, above in Item 2, by extending the deadline for delinquency in the payment of poll taxes from March 1 to May 1 of the succeeding year after the due date, before they were to be turned over to the delinquent poll tax collector and, further, by requiring the collector to proceed against any person he personally knew to be delinquent whether their names appeared on the trustee's list or not.
4. Private Acts of 1931, Chapter 612, was an act used by several counties, which quoted the 1930 Federal Census figures, to provide the power and authority to levy and collect a tax on all taxable property, where an appropriate order is made by the quarterly county court which authorized the tax for county purposes, and which could not exceed thirty cents per $100.00 of property valuation.
5. Private Acts of 1931, Chapter 757, specifically repealed Private Acts of 1931, Chapter 223, as it was amended, and restored to efficacy all prior private acts which might have been repealed by them.
