Court System - Historical Notes

Board of Jury Commissioners - Jurors

The following acts once affected jurors or boards of jury commissioners in Bradley County, but are no longer operative. Also referenced below are acts which repeal prior law without providing new substantive provisions.

1. Private Acts of 1925, Chapter 521, created three member Boards of Jury Commissioners for Blount, McMinn, Roane, Monroe, Bradley, Polk, and Loudon Counties, who would be appointed for single four year terms by the Criminal Court Judge, or the Circuit Judge, having criminal jurisdiction, or both, where necessary. The members must be freeholders, not attorneys, or state, county, or city officials, must not have a suit pending, or more than two belong to the same political party. The members were required to take the oath prescribed in the Act, and would meet in the office of the Circuit Court Clerk, who would serve as Clerk, on the first Monday in May, and every two years thereafter, to select no less than 400 nor more than 800 names from the tax rolls of the county, or from other public sources, who would be the jury list for the next two years. These names would be entered alphabetically in the book provided by the Clerk for that purpose and the entire list must be confirmed by all the Board Members. The names were also to be placed on cards and the cards put into a box in the presence of the Board, which box would be sealed and locked and could not be opened except in the presence of the Board, or the Judge, and then only to refill the box. Two weeks prior to the opening of the court term, the box would be brought forth, shaken well, and a child under the age of ten years, would draw out the number of names ordered by the Judge who were needed as jurors for that term of court. These names were to be placed in an envelope, certified, and sent to the Judge of the Court. The Clerk would keep the names and return them to the box at the next meeting of the Board. The Sheriff would summon both venires, and provisions were made for exhausted panels and to produce special juries by bringing the box into court and drawing names until the needs were filled. Only the Judge could excuse one from duty and he was further obligated to investigate any irregularities noticed. Commissioners, who would be paid $4.00 per day, could be removed when proper, and all who failed to conform were subject to penalties as prescribed in the Act.

2. Private Acts of 1927, Chapter 285, amended the above act by removing Loudon County from being subject to its terms and provisions.
3. Private Acts of 1931, Chapter 556, also created a three member Board of Jury Commissioners in several counties, including Bradley, designated by population figures, who would be jointly appointed by the criminal and circuit court judges. This Act seems to be applicable to the same counties as the 1925 Act in Item One, above, except for Loudon County and contains only a general repealer. Most of the terms of this Act were the same as the 1925 Act except that a Commissioner could serve more than one four year term and some administrative requirements and certifications of names were added, and the date of the first meeting of the Board was left blank. The form of the letter of transmittal of the names of prospective jurors selected was included in this Act. Some conditions relating to those counties which had both civil and criminal jurisdiction in the Circuit Court were changed. Penalties were increased for some instances of non-conformity with the terms herein.
4. Private Acts of 1955, Chapter 334, stated that the Jury Commissioners in Bradley County (identified by the 1950 Federal Census) would be paid at the rate of $10.00 per day instead of the $4.00 heretofore provided in the 1931 Act, which would be paid to them out of the County Treasury on the certificate of the Clerk. All conflicts were repealed and this Act was properly ratified by the Quarterly Court of Bradley County.

Chancery Court

The following acts form an outline of the development of equity jurisdiction in Bradley County, although they no longer have the force of law since they have either been superseded by general law, repealed, or failed to receive local ratification.

1. Acts of 1835-36, Chapter 4, enacted in the same year in which Bradley County was established, divided Tennessee into three Chancery Divisions, each to be presided over by a chancellor of the State, and to have two regular terms annually. Each division was further fragmented into districts.
2. Acts of 1835-36, Chapter 49, assigned newly formed Bradley County to the Ninth Chancery District of the Eastern Chancery Division which met at Madisonville in Monroe County.
3. Acts of 1837-38, Chapter 116, seemed to be a complete rearrangement of the schedule of Chancery Court terms in every county. However, Bradley County is not mentioned in this Act.
4. Acts of 1839-40, Chapter 21, assigned Bradley County and Polk County as one Chancery District whose court would meet at Cleveland in Bradley County under the supervision of the Chancellor of the Eastern Division on the second Monday in March and September.
5. Acts of 1843-44, Chapter 169, provided that the chancery cases now pending at Cleveland, or at Pikeville, which originated in Hamilton County, could be transferred at the request of either

- complainant or defendant to the Chancery Court at Harrison, in Hamilton County.
6. Acts of 1847-48, Chapter 171, reset the schedule of the terms of the Chancery Court which met at Cleveland to the fourth Monday in February and August.
 7. Acts of 1853-54, Chapter 54, formed a new Fifth Chancery Division in Tennessee composed of the courts then being held at Maryville, Kingston, Madisonville, Athens, Benton, Cleveland, Washington, Harrison, Pikeville, Jasper, Sparta, and Livingston, for which an additional chancellor would be elected who must reside within the confines of the new District at some place.
 8. Acts of 1857-58, Chapter 88, organized the entire State of Tennessee into the Eastern, Middle, Western, Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Chancery Divisions. Bradley County was included in the Fifth Division and the Chancery Court terms would begin in Cleveland on the fourth Monday in February and August. Other counties assigned to the Fifth Division were Polk, McMinn, Hamilton, Marion, Cumberland, Bledsoe, White, Overton, Fentress, Scott, Morgan, Roane, Meigs, Rhea, Blount, and Monroe.
 9. Acts of 1870, Chapter 32, formed twelve Chancery Divisions in the State. The Third Division contained the counties of Polk, McMinn, Meigs, Rhea, Cumberland, Bledsoe, Sequatchie, Marion, Hamilton, Bradley, and the Special Chancery Court at Chattanooga, in Hamilton County.
 10. Acts of 1870, Chapter 47, scheduled the regular court terms for every Chancery Court in the State. The Chancery Court of Bradley County would begin its terms on the fourth Monday of February and August.
 11. Acts of 1883, Chapter 34, rearranged the Chancery Court terms for the counties included in the Third Chancery Division which now contained the counties of James, Meigs, Polk, Marion, Rhea, Bledsoe, Sequatchie, Hamilton, McMinn, Monroe, and Bradley whose Chancery Court would meet at Cleveland on the third Monday of March and September.
 12. Acts of 1885 (Ex. Sess.), Chapter 20, reorganized the entire lower judicial structure in the State creating a total of eleven Chancery Divisions. This realignment of divisions assigned the counties of Bradley, Polk, Rhea, Marion, McMinn, Hamilton, James, Monroe, Meigs, Bledsoe, Sequatchie, Van Buren, Coffee, and Grundy to the Third Chancery Division. The Chancery Court of Bradley County would continue to meet at Cleveland on the third Monday in March and September. This Act, and several others was considered by the Supreme Court in the case of Flynn v. State, 203 Tenn. 341, 313 S.W.2d 249 (1958).
 13. Acts of 1887, Chapter 13, rescheduled the opening dates of the Chancery Court terms of the counties in the Third Chancery Division. Bradley County would open the regular terms of the Chancery Court on the third Monday in January and June.
 14. Acts of 1889, Chapter 13, regrouped the Third Chancery Division so as to include within it the counties of Polk, Rhea, Marion, McMinn, Hamilton, James, Monroe, Meigs, Bledsoe, Sequatchie, Van Buren, Grundy, and Bradley where the court would meet in Cleveland on the third Monday in March and September.
 15. Acts of 1895, Chapter 207, changed the opening dates of the Chancery Court terms for most of the counties in the Third Chancery Division. Bradley County would start the regular terms in Cleveland on the third Monday in February and August. All process and bonds were required to conform to these two dates.
 16. Acts of 1899, Chapter 427, was the next major revision of the lower court system of the State. Chancery Divisions were reduced to ten of which the Third Division contained the counties of Franklin, Rhea, Bradley, James, Marion, Coffee, Bledsoe, Sequatchie, Grundy, McMinn, Moore, Warren, Monroe, Polk, Meigs, and Hamilton. The terms of court would begin in Bradley County on the second Monday in February and August.
 17. Private Acts of 1911, Chapter 435, divided the Third Chancery Division of Tennessee, creating the Twelfth Chancery Division out of the counties in the Third Division by removing every county except Hamilton County from the Third Division and placing them in the 12th Chancery Division. The Governor would appoint a Chancellor for the 12th Division who would hold the courts thereof at the times and places now constituted by law. The Chancellor would in turn appoint a Clerk and Master where there were vacancies, otherwise the current Clerks and Masters would continue in office.

18. Private Acts of 1917, Chapter 1, changed the times for holding the Chancery Court in Bradley County to the second Monday in April and October.
19. Public Acts of 1931 (2nd Ex.
