RECORDS REQUEST PROCESS

A citizen has the right to request during normal business hours.

If practical, must promptly make available for inspection.

If not, must within 7 business days:

- Make the record available to the requestor;
- Deny the request in writing, stating the basis for the denial; or
- Furnish the requestor in writing the time necessary to produce the record.

DENIAL OF ACCESS

- If denied access may sue.
- Burden of proof rests on the county official.
- The court may assess all reasonable costs involved in obtaining the record, including reasonable attorneys' fees, against the county official if the court deems the denial "willful."
- Courts interpret "willful" broadly.
- The law requires the court to consider guidance given to the official by the OORC.

CHARGING FOR COPIES

No charge to view records.

May charge actual cost for providing requested copies.

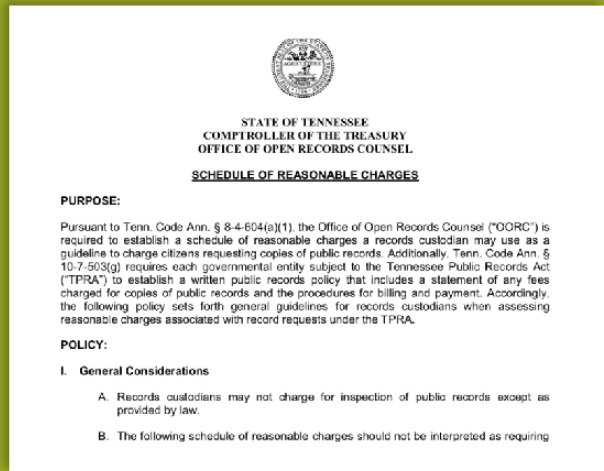

Must provide estimate of cost.

OORC has developed a schedule of reasonable charges for copies of public records.

DISPOSAL OF PUBLIC RECORDS

DUTY TO PRESERVE RECORDS

Official bond insures...

- Safely keep all official records; and
- Safely turn over to your successor all official records.

GOALS OF A GOOD RECORDS MANAGEMENT PROGRAM

- Records you need are preserved.
- Records you don't need are destroyed.
- Records are properly catalogued and indexed.
- Proper conditions are maintained for long term preservation of important records.

CHECKS AND BALANCES

The disposal checks and balances include:

Official who has custody of the record

County public records commission

Tennessee State
Library and Archives

COUNTY PUBLIC RECORDS COMMISSION

- 3 members appointed by the county mayor
 - County commissioner
 - Judge of a court of record
 - Genealogist
- 3 ex officio members
 - County clerk
 - Register of deeds
 - County historian
- County archivist
- IT director

FIRST STEP IN DISPOSAL PROCESS

- Identify and classify the record.
- Three classes of records:
 - Working papers;
 - Temporary records; and
 - Permanent records.
- CTAS' e-Library (e-Li) contains retention schedules describing many major types of records maintained in county offices and recommends a time period that each record be kept.

WORKING PAPERS

- Working papers are records created to serve as input for final reporting documents, and those records which become obsolete immediately after agency use or publication.
- May be destroyed in accordance with the rules and regulations adopted by the public records commission.
- These rules and regulations should be liberal, allowing county officials to eliminate these records as easily as possible.

TEMPORARY RECORDS

- If a record needs to be kept around for some reason after its initial use, then it is at least a temporary record.
- Once retained for its useful term, then it may be destroyed.
- The rules of the records commission should require the official wishing to destroy temporary records to notify the commission of the kind of record to be destroyed and the basis for its destruction.

CONTINUING AUTHORIZATION

- Record commissions can provide “continuing authorization” to destroy temporary records.
- When possible, it is recommended officials request continuing authorization.
- Once granted, officials only need to notify the commission when records are being destroyed in compliance with the schedule, identifying the type, age and quantity of the records.

PERMANENT RECORDS

- Permanent Records are records that are required by law or by their importance to be kept permanently.
- If you can safely and successfully convert paper records into another permanent media that is easier to store, the original paper version of the records can be destroyed.
- No original permanent public record may be destroyed unless a majority of the records commission agrees.
- Must give 90-days notice to the State Library and Archives prior to destruction.

DOCUMENTS SUBJECT TO A RECORDS REQUEST

- T.C.A. § 10-7-503(h).
- Don't destroy documents subject to a records request.
- Contact the public records request coordinator to confirm.
- $500 fine.
- Keep request documents for twelve months.

METHODS OF DESTRUCTION

For many working papers and some temporary records of an office, tossing them in the trash or recycling bin is appropriate.

If there is a possibility that confidential information is included in the records, they must be disposed of in a manner that obliterates this information, such as shredding.

ALTERNATIVES TO DESTRUCTION

- The records may be transferred to a local or regional public library, a local, regional or state college library, or a county or regional historical society, to be preserved for historical purposes.
- Additionally, a county may establish its own archives or enter into an interlocal agreement with other local governments for the creation of a regional archives.

ALTERNATIVE STORAGE FORMATS FOR PUBLIC RECORDS

MICROFILMING

- Trusted process over 150 years old
- Advantages:
 - Space savings (98% reduction in storage space over paper records)
 - Archival quality (suitable for long term retention)
- Disadvantages:
 - Expensive
 - Labor intensive
 - Requires expertise

MICROFILM AND THE TSLA

- The TSLA may be able to provide some level of microfilming services.
- TSLA is an excellent source of objective advice about microfilming if you have any questions.

ELECTRONIC STORAGE

- Computers are being used both as a format for creating and maintaining records originally as well as for reproducing existing paper records onto other electronic storage media.
- Issues:
 - Security
 - Access
 - Preservation

ELECTRONIC RECORDS STANDARDS

Records may be maintained in an electronic format under T.C.A. § 10-7-121 if the following standards are met:

The information must be available for public inspection, unless confidential;

The record must be retained for the entire retention period;

All data must be copied to storage media daily and back-ups that are more than one week old must be stored off-site; and

Official must be able to provide a paper copy upon request.

ELECTRONIC RECORDS: ADVANTAGES & DISADVANTAGES

ADVANTAGES

- Incredible reduction of storage space
- Speed of access and retrievability

DISADVANTAGES

- Fragile
- Storage and operating systems change frequently

TSLA states that it does not consider any existing format for electronic records to be of permanent archival quality.

DUAL SYSTEMS

- Many officials are, through scanning or imaging, creating electronic duplicates of the record which are primarily used by the office during the active life of the record.
- The paper version serves as a security copy which can be stored off-site.

RECORDS MANAGEMENT DO'S AND DON'TS

DO

- Respect the right of the public to access records.
- Find out which records are confidential and protect them.
- Make sure you have proper back-ups and duplicates of any records kept in electronic format.
- Plan for ways to preserve records that must be “permanently” retained.

DON'T

- Don't destroy county records without proper authorization to do so (i.e., get permission from the Public Records Commission).
